“I Have Already Pronounced Judgement...” (1 Corinthians 5:3)

Fellowship is a precious commodity, something essential in our walk with the Lord (1 John 1:7). It involves participation, association, and interaction. Those involved in this fellowship must appeal to the word of God for guidance and use great judgement in this matter.

Since we cannot know the heart of another as God can (Acts 15:8; Luke 16:15), our fellowship is extended on the basis on what we can know. We can only base our determination to extend or withdraw fellowship on the words and actions of others.

The New Testament is plain regarding whom the Christian should withdraw his fellowship:

- "Every brother who walks disorderly" (2 Thessalonians 3:6-14). "Disorderly" is "deviating from the prescribed rule" (Thayer's Greek-English Lexicon). One who walks disorderly is one whose manner of life deviates from the word of God, one who sins and will not repent (see 1 John 1:6 -2:2). In the text, it specifically had reference to those who did not work but were busybodies.
- "Those who cause divisions and offenses, contrary to the doctrine which you learned" (Romans 16:17-18). Such are to be "noted" (KJV: "marked") and "avoided." To mark is to "observe attentively, cautiously and faithfully, be on your guard against them" (Albert Barnes). To avoid is "to turn away from, keep aloof from..., to shun one" (Thayer). These actions are to be taken because the conduct of such individuals is contrary to the "unity of the Spirit" (Ephesians 4:3) and causes others to sin.
- "A divisive man" (KJV: "heretick," ASV: "factious") (Titus 3:10-11). The word translated "factious" or "divisive" means "causing division by a party spirit" (W.E. Vine, Vine's Expository Dictionary of NT Words). Factions are a work "of the flesh" (Galatians 5:19-21).
- The immoral (1 Corinthians 5:1-11). This would include fornicators, covetous ones, idolaters, revilers, drunkards, and extortioners.
- A brother who refuses to repent (Matthew 18:15-17).
- Those who go beyond the doctrine of Christ (2 John 9-11).

"The result of church discipline administered in the light of the Scriptures (2 Timothy. 3:16), in the love of Christ, and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit is a clean church, wholesome, and wholehearted (1 Corinthians 5:7-8)" (Baker's Dictionary of Theology, p. 167).
