A Man With Two Mothers

A woman gave birth to a son. When she saw that he was a beautiful child, she hid him three months from those who would have killed him. But when she could no longer hide him, she built an ark of bulrushes for him, daubed it with asphalt and pitch, put the child in it, and laid it in the reeds by the river's bank. The child's sister stood afar off, to know what would be done to him.

The daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe at the river. Her maidens walked along the riverside; when she saw the ark among the reeds, she sent her maid to get it. When she opened it, she saw the child, and the baby cried. She had compassion on him, and said, "This is one of the Hebrews' children..." (Exodus 2:2-6). "...And the child grew, and she brought him to Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her son. So, she called his name Moses, saying, "Because I drew him out of the water." (Exodus 2:10).

Moses became the great leader of the Israelite nation. He led the exodus of out of Egypt. He experienced a relationship with God unique to mankind. He will forever be remembered.

However, there would have been no Moses had it not been for two strong women, his mothers. Jochebed who gave birth to him, protected, and saved his life despite certainly endangering her own life. And, the unnamed daughter of Pharaoh who rescued him, saw to it that he was fed, nurtured and cared for him as if she had been the one who gave birth to him. She too became his mother.

As I think of my mother today, I'm reminded of how blessed my life has been because of her. I pray she enjoys the best day ever! I love you, Mom! I'm also thankful for all the other strong women who have been like mothers to me. Have a great day!
