Nickname

Nicknames can sometimes tell a lot about a person. When I was in the 8th grade, I injured my front tooth and it turned black and my friends nicknamed me “Black Fang”. I am glad that name did not stick very long and it did not stay with me for years. There is a man named Joseph we read about in Acts chapter four that his friends nicknamed “Barnabas”. The name Barnabas meant “Son of Encouragement”. In the rest of the scriptures the name Barnabas was used and that is how we recognize who the Bible is talking about and not his real name Joseph. He must have made quite an impact on the people around him. When you read the rest of the passages about him you can see why he would be called that. I began to think about people in my life that would be my “Barnabas”. That is a talent that sometimes we take for granted. It is a talent to be someone that comes into the lives of people and support and encourage them in such a way that they make a huge impact on. Most of the time we think first about people who is a Barnabas in our life, but do we ever think about who we are a Barnabas for in their life? If you like when people encourage you then let’s also be ones that become a Barnabas for someone else. So, who would call you Barnabas?

“Be a Barnabas”
